

- Reading the Title of an Academic Paper
- The title of a paper is an important indicator of the argument of the paper.

Important Info.

Name of journal
Article
Year of Publication
Page Numbers
Authors of the article

Abstract

- Gives an overview of paper in a concise manner.
Word count → 250-300.
- General Specific
- Setting the context of paper → author's arg.
→ Methodology
- Authors specifying their research based on analysis of documents and interviews with policy makers and citizens.

Half of the abstract ends with Questions
Arguments

The abstract of every academic paper ends with (Keywords).
↓
Crucial Indicators

Main body of an academic paper
[Introduction

In introduction the authors begin with the background of certain topic.

Set the research
context of the in the first paragraph.

Mindfulness → What questions are being asked in research paper like the authors do

- Theoretical approach

- Important part of introduction:

To convey the readers:
→ Why this research is relevant or
→ What are its contribution to the field will be.

Authors:

Contributions in methodology
Circle back to their main arg.

The continual ref. to the main research question, directly or indirectly, is hallmark of good academic writing.

Hallmark → Official mark

For readers → The continual arg. is reinforced to us.

→ End of Introduction → Tells us about next sect.

> Map of the rest of the paper.

- How paper is organized
- What each section contains
- Expect

→ Imp. elements of an Introduction:

• Provide clear context / backdrop

> Location

> Time

> Earlier scholarship of research.

• Clearly defined

> Research questions

> Central Arg.

• Clearly defined

> frame of analysis

> concepts used in

• Contribution / Relevance of the research

• Map of the paper.

Reading the Methodology

- The way authors have conducted their research.
 - > Sample / Material
 - > Possible biases & exclusions.

Quantitative

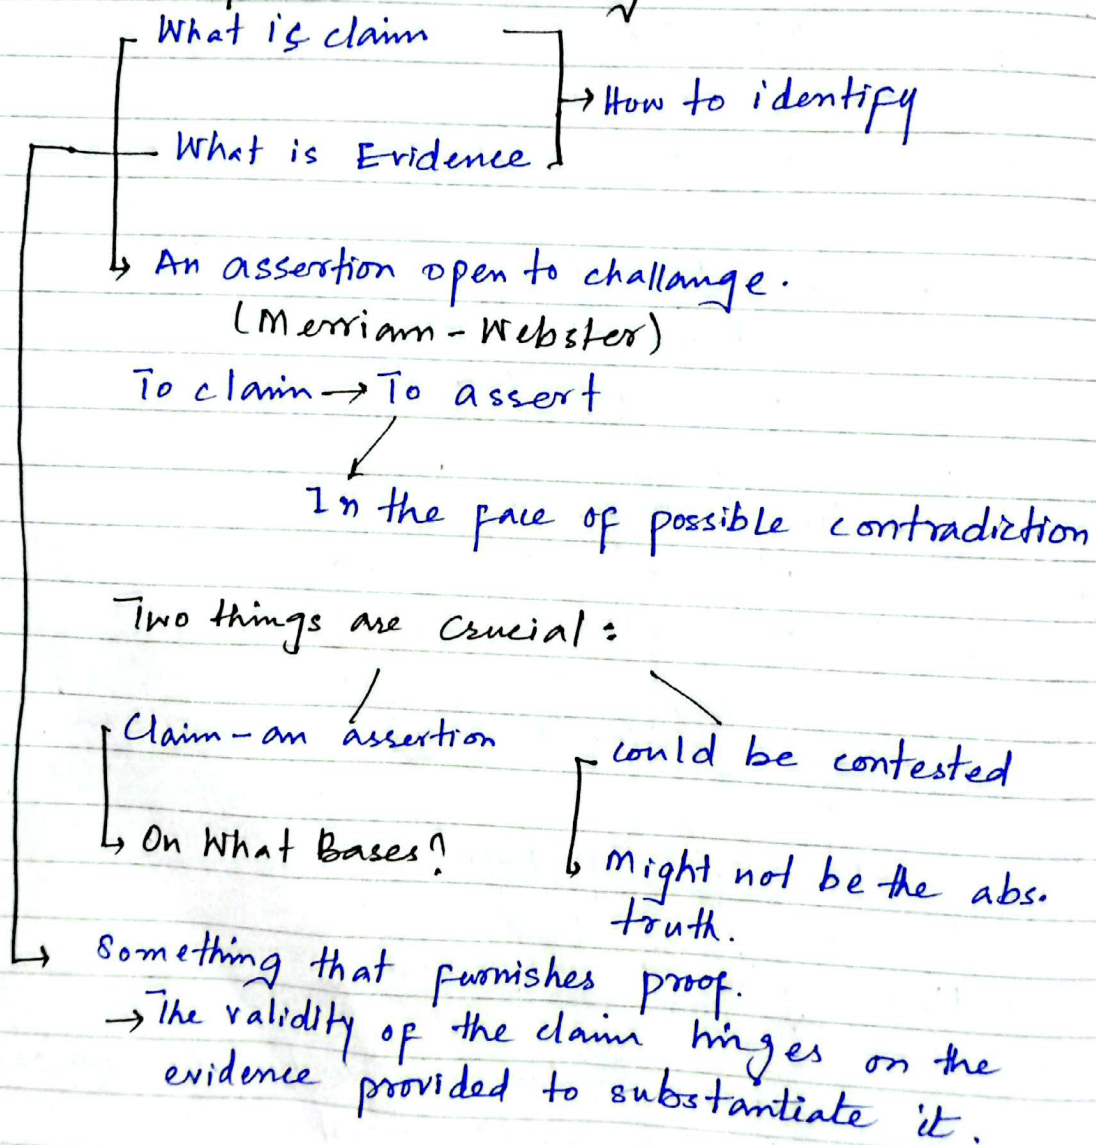

Qualitative

- > Material of analysis.
- > Feedback by Govt.

This section also elaborates:

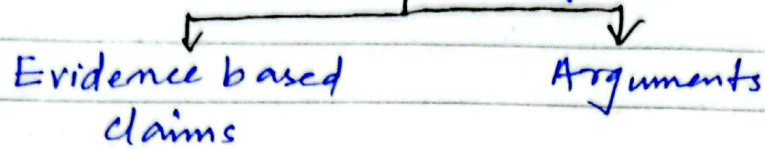

- Other methods of collecting data
- Semi-structured interviews.

→ Core of Academic Writing

Claim vs Evidence

Academic writing is driven by:

A claim / arg. is not the same as an opinion.

Ex:

Girls are better stds. than boys

Notice vagueness of the statement.

↓
Not clearly expressed

- Are all girls students?
- Everywhere, better > boys?

Evidence ?

- > Age?
- > Country / Continent?
- > Ref. to contemporary time?

How is better perf. defined ?

- > Grades
- > Behaviour in the classroom
- > Attentiveness

→ Specific statement:

> Girl std. have consistently outperformed boy std. in the Central Board Exam. in India since 2014.